A full on-chip and area efficient low-dropout voltage regulator (LDO) which, exploiting the technique nested miller compensation with active capacitor (NMCAC) to eliminate the external capacitor without compromising the stability of the system in the full output current range. In This paper, we presents a full on-chip and area efficient low-dropout voltage ...

A new method to compensate three-stage amplifier to drive large capacitive loads is proposed in this paper. Gain Bandwidth Product is increased due to use an attenuator in the path of miller compensation capacitor. Analysis demonstrates that the gain bandwidth product will be improved significantly without using large compensation capacitor. Using a feedforward ...

A new effective single-Miller capacitor compensation topology is introduced for three-stage amplifiers with very large capacitive loads, realized through an active-feedback capacitor together with an inner half-feedforward stage, which profitably exploits the two left half-plane zeros. This paper introduces a new effective single-Miller capacitor compensation ...
