How much does a lithium battery cost?

Just a year ago you could hardly find a lithium battery for under $1,200, but now I see them advertised all over the place from $1,200 down to some that are $350 for a 100 AH model. So what's the difference in cost of lithium batteries?

Where can I buy a lithium ion battery pack?

Complete lithium-ion battery packs can be purchased on Amazon and eBay, but don't expect to get the highest quality battery packs from those places. Given the current environment, it's still best to either custom-build your own lithium-ion battery pack or have a professional battery builder do it for you.

Where can you find lithium ion batteries?

All over the place! Specifically, lithium-ion batteries are found in laptops, cell phones, ebikes, USB battery banks, automobiles, fitness trackers, and just about anywhere else you need portable power. You can find totally healthy lithium-ion battery cells in several readily available products.

Are ionic lithium batteries worth the money?

Ionic lithium batteries are worth every penny as they offer quality and reliability while going easy on your wallet. Here's why: You can efficiently power all your applications with time and money-saving LiFePO₄ batteries.

Should I buy a traditional battery instead?

You could buy a traditional battery and save a quick buck-- short term. However, purchasing an Ionic lithium battery will save you money long term, and in more ways than one. You'll also save yourself the headache of constant maintenance and frequent replacements.

The cells are one of the biggest price points for manufacturers and determine the cost of lithium batteries, as high-grade Lithium Iron Phosphate cells are UL 1642 approved. Cells come in Grade A and Grade B. Quality batteries will be made of Grade A cells that are closely matched. Weaker cells can be overcharged and short out faster.
